Coronavirus has impacted the way we live & work. Enterprises and their employees are questioning the safety of the workplace. How do you ensure spaces can be kept safe and sanitary?

In order to reach the new normal that will emerge after the pandemic is over, companies need to think about how to ensure business continuity (business as usual) and flexibility. But the transition won't be very smooth. Companies that want to quickly adapt to this new normal have to roll out new standard operating procedures (SOPs) across multiple sites.

Real-time tracking and monitoring of people and assets will be crucial. But given the time sensitivity and scalability issues, implementing these changes using traditional measures is not possible. Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Computer Vision (CV) would be playing a major role in restoring business efficiency and ensuring safety.
